Did you know?

- Using a Housing First model, FIRST Home provides a supportive, safe living environment opportunity where sobriety is maintained and skills to obtain permanent housing are achieved.
- FIRST Home serves up to four women (minimum age 18) and provides a shared living, peer-supported environment where the focus on recovery for mothers is the primary goal.
- FIRST Home is participant-centered and driven by the residents. Each resident will create a family-centered success plan to support their recovery and gain the skills needed for their new life as a family in recovery.
- FIRST Home residents identify a community partner to be their recovery champion and work to develop a circle of support.
- The length of stay may be up to two years, during which time residents will receive referrals and assistance with their search for housing as part of their service plan.
- FIRST Home participants will engage a plan that is defined by them, right for them, and will help get them to their own goal of recovery.
